FAN NEWS

BIFFNESS

Fifteen festive BIFFen (plus Alan, who came by to say that he wouldn't be able to come) gathered for the third annual BIFFmas party. The festivities were enlivened by the surprise presences of former BIFF regulars Samantha and Ruthie. (I mean, yeah, they both RSVPed for the Browncoats Christmas Party, but who would have taken them seriously?) We also had our traditional Chinese gift exchange, with a bit more stealing than has gone on in the past. (Although we still haven't seen a stealing cascade, where one "steal" ends up in every single present changing hands.) And, as usual, it was amazing what nifty nerdy notions people managed to dig up for under $5.00. Plus, we watched the epic film, How the Sith Stole Christmas.

Because the Christmas season is such a busy time, not least for the restaurant, we won't be meeting this Friday, the 21st, or next Friday, the 28th. The next BIFF will be on the tenth day of Christmas, my true love gave to me, ten seasons of Stargate, nine Christmas lights a bubbling, an eight inch digital picture frame, seven Harry Potter books, six Asterix comics, FIVE MAPLE MEADS, four calling cards, three French visitors, two Firefly sequels, and a lightsaber TV remote. Yes, once again, it's show and tell time. Whether you got something fannish for Christmas or Hannukah or Festivus, or whether you've had it all along, bring it out, show it off, and listen to the rest of us go "Ooh" and "Ahhh!" Impress your friends. Make your enemies jealous. Make neutral people want to be your friends. Show it. Tell it. (Just not for too long, because we have to get everybody in.)

Looking ahead to January 11th, it's been a while since we had a writing challenge, and this time, we've decided to make things really easy. You only have to write 17 syllables. The challenge this time is to write a movie review as a haiku poem. The rules are:

1. the movie must be something you can reasonably expect the rest of us to know: either something we've watched at BIFF, or a fantasy, SF, comic or gaming-related film that has won an Oscar, Gemini, Hugo, Nebula, Aurora, or any combination of the above. 2. you only get one haiku: no fair stringing together a whole bunch of them to express what you want to say. 3. your haiku must actually have something to say: some value judgement or commentary on the worth of the movie.

In keeping with the tradition of our writing challenges so far, there will be no prize for the best haiku. However, the writer of the worst haiku will be tied to a chair and forced to watch H.G. Wells' The Shape of Things to Come.

AlternaBIFF events:

FRED will be meeting this Friday as usual at Boston Pizza, 1333 West Broadway, Vancouver. 8:00 pm.

BIFF, or "Burrard Inlet Fan Fellowship" happens Fridays (except long weekends and VCON weekend) from 6:30 p.m. until closing time (officially 9:00) at the Eighties Restaurant (www.80srestaurant.com), 110 West 14th Street (at Lonsdale) in North Vancouver. To keep in touch with any changes, please check the BIFF web site at:

THE CUTHBERT COLLECTION

A while ago I reported part of a story about Chester Cuthbert and his SF collection. Mr. Cuthbert, as you may not know, has been a fixture of Winnipeg fandom since the 1950s, largely by getting a club's library dumped on him when it dissolved. And then it grew. And it grew. It engulfed his house. It threatened to engulf his life. Decadent Winnipeg fandom appeared in the 1970s, barely in time to save him from creating Canada's first uncontrolled black hole.

Dale Speirs writes:

"In Winnipeg, Chester Cuthbert's house full of SF and fantasy books has been donated to the University of Alberta library. U of A librarian Randy Reichardt, an SF fan, arranged the transfer at the end of 2007. Chester turned 95 on 2007-10-15, so it is a relief that the collection will find a place where it is wanted.

“This makes Alberta one of the top places for SF collections. Several years ago the University of Calgary Library received the Bob Gibson collection, an equally massive library of SF.”

Dale Speirs, Opuntia 64.1A, December 2007

DO-IT-YOURSELF FILM

“Worldwide Short Film Festival (WSFF) National Tour is an event that will hopefully happen again in 2008.

http://www.worldwideshortfilmfest.com/national_tour/

The 2007 National Tour included shorts of potential interest:

* Rabbit { 8 minutes | fantasy/horror/animation }

http://www.runwrake.com/recent_work/work/rabbit/index.htm
|

* No Room for Gerold (Kein Platz für Gerold)

{ 5 minutes | animation }

(fantasy element because characters are anthropomorphic)

CUFF 2008

Nobody's heard back yet from Brian Davis. He was supposed to respond in mid-December 2007 to a registered letter from a previous CUFF administrator.

The latest Canadian Unity Fan Fund delegate and current administrator is Peter Jarvis in Toronto.

"The deadline for the receipt by the administrators of the realmail-only ballots is short: Jan. 31.

"www.fanac.org/DUFF2008.pdf"

Murray Moore, 27 December 2007

Jean Weber added:

“Especially with such a short deadline, not providing a way to vote and pay online is really poor form, especially when it is so easy to set up.

“DUFF really needs to drag itself into the 21st century.

“In the spirit of helpfulness (not just whining), I am setting up a page for voting and donating online. It should be live soon. When it is, I'll post the URL.

“I hope the admins don't have a fit about my taking this initiative, but I figure the only difference between taking a stack of ballots to a party and collecting votes and money, then passing those on to the admins, and doing it online is that the ballot is in a slightly different form (though the contents are the same).”

Jean Weber, 27 December 2007

TAFF 2008

Chris Garcia, a fanzine publishing dynamo in southern California, “has won the Trans Atlantic Fan Fund for 2008, and will travel to Britain for Orbital, the 2008 Eastercon. The other contenders were Chris Barkley, Linda Deneroff and Christian McGuire.”

Ansible 245, December 2007

Note: For some reason the press release announcing this was greeted with protests, on the FanFundAdmin list, that it wasn't meant for press releases. -GS

WHAT HAPPENED TO WESTWIND?

Michael Citrak, of the Northwest Science Fiction Society, tells me he had an editor-in-training who would revive their newsletter Westwind, but due to a family emergency, had to back out. We await further news.

FUTUROLOGY CORNER

'If we could have devised an arrangement for providing everybody with music in their homes, perfect in quality, unlimited in quantity, suited to every mood and beginning and ceasing at will, we should have considered the limit of human felicity already attained.' OKAL REL

I've been receiving frequent emails from the Okal Rel email list, but since I haven't read in Lynda Williams' story universe very deeply, I can't make heads or tails of the messages.

So I offered to run a short introductory article in BCSFazine, if someone cared to write it.

In other news: Lynda Williams' friend Virginia O'Dine seems to have moved to a different email address. This is kind of a problem, since she receives BCSFazine by email. I have asked for new contact information, and await developments.

JEANNE ROBINSON GETS HIGH

"Hello fellow Stardancers,

"In just one week I'll be flying high on Zero-Gravity Corporation's refitted 727 for the ride of a lifetime! You can read all about it in the attached release, at the site <<http://www.stardancemovie.com/>>, and at our new blog at <<http://stardancemovie.blogspot.com/>>.

"As you can imagine, it's gone beyond simple excitement for me. I'm in a place words can't reach. Like I said in my first blog entry, I've been waiting for this ride since Spider emerged from his pit to tell me was going to write a story about a zero-gravity dancer. That was 30 years ago. And after the Challenger tragedy shut down the Civilian in Space program taking away my seat on the shuttle, I didn't know if I'd ever get another chance to dance in zero-g.

"Enter Dr. Peter Diamandis of X-Prize fame to the rescue. After my Stardance PowerPoint presentation at Robert Heinlein's Centennial Gala last July, Peter stood up and offered me 2 seats on his company's plane. The rest will be history in just 7 days.

"You can stay in touch with me, Spider, my dancer, Kathleen McDonagh, and producer/co-director James Sposto by reading our blog. Spider is coming to Vegas but he won't be joining us for the zero-g ride. We'll keep him busy writing about our adventures. We'll post photos and a video as soon as they are available.

"You can help me by spreading the word about our upcoming ride online, and in the real world. This ride is only the beginning. I need all the help I can get to reach my ultimate goal of making a large format Stardance film. The dream is for everyone to be able to enjoy the out-of-this-world experience of dancing in zero-gravity in an IMAX theatre. That's the ultimate goal — for us all to dream, dance and evolve.

“Meantime, happy holidays.”
